THE RIPE OLIVE

FRANCISCAN FATHERS FIRST PLANTED OLIVE AT CALIFORNIA MISSIONS.

Governor Johnson has issued a proclamation designating March 31 as Ripe Olive Day. The ripe olive is a valuable article of diet little known outside of California and the celebration of Olive Day will be valuable publicity for the olive growers of the state.

It was in 1768 that Father Junipero Serra led a party of Franciscan fathers from their mission in Lower California, northward into the wild and then unknown territory which is now the state of California.

Their first mission was established at San Diego. Around this mission they planted an orchard, containing principally the varieties of fruit grown in southern Europe.

As they marched northward to establish other missions, they took with them cuttings and seedlings from this parent orchard, and in this way developed orchards adjacent to twenty-other missions which they established in different parts of the state. Thus the science of horticulture was introduced into California.

To. Mrs. Freda Ehmann of Oroville belongs the credit for starting the ripe olive of California upon its march to commercial triumph. She bad been forced to take over an olive grove near Oroville for a debt. There was no apparent way to get rid of the crop. Her son suggested to her that she pickle the olives. At first Mrs. Ehmann laughed at the idea, for she had never seen an olive fresh from the tree. The next day, however, she began work.

She sent samples of her olives to Professor Hilgard of the University of California, who encouraged her in her work, telling her that they were the best ripe olives that he had ever tasted.

This encouraged Mrs. Ehmann, and upon investigation she found that her olives were far superior to other ripe olives on the market. She disposed of her crop to Oakland grocers, retaining only enough to be used as samples. With these samples she invaded the east and introduced the California ripe olives in New York and Philadelphia.

CABRILLO AND CALIFORNIA.

"It is a strange thing that the great encyclopedias of modern times make no mention of Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo, whose achievements as a discoverer are second only to the achievements of Columbus, and whose abilities as a navigator were marvelous," writes John S. McGroarty in his book, "California," and goes on to show how the ships of the Portuguese Cabrillo were without doubt "the first to sail on pathways of the seas to the Land of Heart's Desire."

"Leaving the port of Navidad at the end of June, 1542, Cabrillo reached on August 20, a point on the west coast of Mexico called Cabo Bajo which was the most northerly point ever reached by any of his predecessors. Putting in and out of every harbor he met upon the way, and placing its location correctly in his log, as well as giving these harbors and prominent headlands names, he at length passed the Coronado islands and entered San Diego harbor, which he called San Miguel."

"It seems that Cabrillo's expedition tarried a space of six days in San Diego and was loath to leave. A few days later he discovered the isles of San Clemente and Santa Catalina, planting the flag of Spain wherever he went, and claiming the country for the Spanish king. He visited the harbor of San Pedro, and sailing from thence he came upon the islands of Santa Cruz, Santa Rosa and San Miguel, lying off the coast of Santa Barbara. Upon these islands and the points on the mainland at which he touched the Indians came to meet and to greet him, often bringing him fish and other things to eat.

"Again lifting sail, the little fleet put out to sea and sailed northward to what is now known as Point concepcion." "The expedition once more proceeded upon its voyage, rounding Point Pinos and entering the bay of Monterey, in the waters of which the ships anchored and the crews attempted to land. The violence of the sea, however, was such, and continued so, that Cabrillo concluded to put back to the Santa Barbara coast."

BURBANK TO ANNEX.

The city of Burbank will vote on April 8, on the question of annexing considerable adjacent territory lying southeast of the city. The people of the outlying territory voted to be annexed to Burbank in March, 1914, and all that now remains is for the city to receive them.

TROPICO LICENSE LAW

TROPICO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IN SPECIAL SESSION DISCUSS MERCHANT TAX.

A special meeting of the Tropico Chamber of Commerce was held in the city hall, Tropico, Friday evening March 26th, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of discussing the merits of the proposed Merchant's License ordinance.

Rev. T. R. Smith, president of the Chamber, presided, with A. J. Van Wie as secretary. The chair stated that he had been informed that the city trustees at their last meeting had instructed the city attorney to draw up a merchants license ordinance, and the chair further stated that the object of the Chamber coming together in special session is to learn further concerning the merits of such an ordinance and whether it is something that the merchants of Tropico will favor. He stated that there has been adopted an ordinance in Glendale placing a tax upon all merchants and peddlers, and the question arises as to whether what is good for Glendale will be good for Tropico.

Frank B. McKenney, one of the Tropico merchants, was present and expressed himself in favor of some kind of an ordinance that might protect the dealers. He related an instance that happened not long since of five able bodied men alighting from a Pacific Electric car, walking to a place near the front of his store and unwrapping sets of cutlery such as carving knives, etc., and after receiving their orders from their captain, they started for different parts of the city to canvas, presumably offering the carving sets as premiums for some newspaper or periodical. He thinks that if a license would stop such work as that, that he would be willing to pay a reasonable tax to have both the merchant and the consumer protected.

Dr. William C. Mabry spoke upon the question and wondered if the tax collected might not be placed in a fund to defray expenses of street cleaning and keeping the city in a better sanitary condition.

Mr. Frank Davis said he favored a reasonable license ordinance.

W. H. Crane, secretary of the Merchant's association, comprising the cities of Glendale, Tropico and Casa Verdugo was present and answered many questions concerning the Glendale Merchants License ordinance, which he gave considerable assistance in preparing.

On motion the members present unanimously voted to have the trustees instructed to prepare a merchants license ordinance, and the following committee of merchants was appointed to confer with the city attorney who is to prepare the ordinance: J. Herbert Smith, Frank B. McKenney, Charles Verdin, R. Danner and H. G. Bradford.

FIVE HUNDRED PARTY.

There was a very pleasant gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Elliott of 1005 North Central avenue on Thursday evening. This is a party of friends who meet once a month to play five hundred and enjoy a social evening. The prizes were won by Mrs. R. L. Phister and Mr. A. F. Priest, and the consolation prizes wewe received by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bassett. After the game refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Phister, 1432 Valley View Road.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Phister, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Wyman, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bassett, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Priest and Mrs. Walter Elliott.

MUNICIPAL FLY CATCHER.

The city of Redlands has hit upon a novel way of killing two birds with one stone in getting rid of thousands of flys and securing valuable publicity as a by-product. All is accomplished by the municipal fly-catcher, en employe of the city who goes about town, clad in spotless ducks, and baits, empties and takes general care of 200 fly traps scattered over the city. "Flyless Redlands" has become a popular slogan, and a number of national periodicals, among them the conservative Review of Reviews, have seen fit to publish the fly catcher's picture with an appropriate story.

BUYS NEW HOME.

Mr. F. R. Buchanan of 115 Orange Grove avenue has purchased the house at 204 Orange street known as the Dr. Hurtt residence and with his family will occupy the same the first of the month. Mr. Buchanan purchased the residence from Mr. Barlow.

RESURRECTION

In every heart, a cross hath been erected,
Whereon the Saviour hath been crucified;
By passion, pride, or greed, Betrayed, Rejected,
There hath the Lord Christ died.

In every heart, there is a sepulchre,
A garden tomb, wherein the Christ, once slain
Slumbers, in power, amid the drooping lillies,
Waiting to rise again.

They are not dead, those souls in bondage holden
They are not dead, Behold they only sleep.
Again—Though thrice denying, he forsook him—
Peter shall feed his sheep.

On every Calvary, an Easter morning shall rise
In glory radiantly fair—
Though Mary at the tomb weeps broken hearted
The angels gather there.

Wake, Oh, my Soul, and with the angel chorus
Come forth into the power of gladsome day.
Lo, also, from the place of thine entombment,
The stone is rolled away. Amen.

Explanatory.

Some few years ago while in the concert work in Michigan, I gave a song recital in a Methodist church, making the acquaintance of the preacher. He was an exceptionally fine young man. Later on I was invited by him to come to Northern Michigan and assist him musically in some meetings he was giving in the Presbyterian church. This seemed strange. I went, had a fine meeting. He told me he left the M. E. church as he was apparently unsuited for it. It was not long until he was out of the Presbyterian church; after serving for another denomination a while he found out his "troubles." He was a "Socialist" not a Methodist, Presbyterian or any other Godly denomination. Well, he left the church and enlisted as a Socialist lecturer in which he showed much brilliancy. There was only one ending, he drifted from bad to worse. Finally he became a Red Flag Anarchist, and bad man generally, was arrested twice and sentenced to a term in prison. On account of his extreme good behavior, he was released, but not until he had had the awakening as described in this poem which he wrote in his cell. I did not hear from him for some years, until two years ago, while I and my family were at Coronado, where I had gone to recuperate a little from a sick spell. I received a letter from him enclosing this poem and his request that I set the words to music so that it would more truthfully give vent to his feelings and his pleasure in getting released from his "bondage" and being once more in the fold. He is now doing a good work among his fellow men in Michigan. Surely the Master can always find one way in which to bring every soul, no matter how vile, to himself if he gets only half a chance. This poor fellow drank the cup to its lowest dregs before he woke up.

The poem put to music will be rendered in two Los Angeles churches on Easter morning.

P. E. LAICHINGER,
132 East Second street, Glendale.

MONEY ORDER BUSINESS NORMAL.

These are days when believers in internationalism seize with avidity all evidence that it is an ideal which is workable. Consequently there will be rejoicing over the statement from Washington official sources that the international money order business of the world, of which a very large proportion originates in the United States, is now being carried essentially on the same basis as it was before the declaration of war in Europe. This means not only that the altered conditions of foreign exchange again make it possible for the United States postoffice department to liquidate its indebtedness to foreign postal systems, but also that restrictions on the amount of money to be sent have been withdrawn, so that something approximating the former stream of wealth earned in the United States is now being sent to Europe by thousands of wage-earners who are in receipt of pay which they have become habituated to share with kinfolk and friends across the seas.

To be sure there are at least four of the smaller countries of Europe and Africa that have suspended the money order business; but they are exceptions. For the most obvious reasons it is to the interest of all the belligerent nations to keep operative any channels through which wealth may enter that will succor in any way the masses of non-combatants. It is among such that the $1000,000,000 annually sent to Europe from the method are spent. A small percentmethod are spent. A small percentage of the business is strictly commercial.

As was said before it is reassuring to see this piece of international machinery operating efficiently. It took some time to construct it as a piece of administrative mechanism and as a symbol of the comity of nations. That it is surviving such a test points to its perpetuity.—Christian Science Monitor.

OTHER'S FAULTS.

How easy it is for us to call attention to the faults of others, even if we have many faults of our own. The more faults we have the more likely we are to find fault with what others do. The man who fails at everything he undertakes can suggest to others just how they should do to succeed.

The writer remembers of a very small man calling attention to the uselessness of small horses for doing farm work. Now and then we are told how to do things by some one who has made many failures in the same line of work.

The man of strong well balanced mind attends to his own business and succeeds while the man of weak mind attend to affairs of others and fails.

TWENTY-ONE MONTANA GIRLS.

SAN DIEGO, March 25.—Feted, dined and entertained during their three day visit to the San Diego exposition the delegation of twenty-one pretty Montana girls are now going north to take in the San Francisco exposition. Balls, receptions and auto rides, including one to the quaint Mexican town of Tiajuana, made their stay here a busy one and all became enthusiastic boosters for the exposition. The pulchritudinous Montanans are making an extended trip as the guests of the Butte Miner, the twenty-one being winners in a popularity contest which that newspaper conducted. In their trail they left quite a few love-sick youths in San Diego but each member of the party lived up to a promise made before leaving Butte that they would not heed any matrimonial proposals, no matter how alluring they were.

The girls will be taken on a trip to Honolulu and while at the exposition here it was natural that they would display keen interest in the Hawiian village on the Isthmus. Here they were given an insight into what they would see in the far away country.

CHOPIN AFTERNOON.

Members of the Music section of the Tuesday Afternoon club were especially favored with a Chopin afternoon at the home of Mrs. Vivian R. Webb, 209 North Maryland, Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Webb is one of the talented pianists of Glendale, a member of the Music section and a teacher of music of no little note.

A brief sketch of the life of Chopin was given and Mrs. Webb played ten Chopin numbers with an interpretation that could not have failed to please the critical composer himself, had he been present.

Mrs. Webb was assisted in receiving by her mother, Mrs. Robertson, and together they served delicious refreshments at the close of a delightful program.

GLENDALE WINS FROM BURBANK.

The Glendale Union high school baseball team went over to Burbank this morning and defeated the high school team of that burg by a score of 7 to 2. The ball was a pretty good class and John Farner, a new freshman pitcher for Glendale, distinguished himself by allowing only four hits to the up-country lads. The Glendale line up was as follows:

Kolts and McNutt, c; Farner, p; Heacock, 1b; Dyer, 2b; Ames, 3b; Livingston, ss; Renshaw and Mills, lf; Phillips, cf; Coole and Smith, rf.

Lets hope the good work will continue.

TROPICO NEWS ITEMS

STUDY HOME ECONOMICS—G. A. R. AND CORPS IN ALL DAY MEETING.

The Home Economics section of the Tropico Thursday Afternoon club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Henry T. Goodwin on West Tenth street, yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Jessica C. Hazzard of Whittier was present and delightfully entertained Mrs. Goodwin and her guests by cooking and serving a three course luncheon, thus demonstrating the various recipes that were given the members of this important section of the club. The menu as prepared by Mrs. Hazzard was most delicious.

Mrs. Hazzard will present the program at the meeting of the club, which will be held at the home of Mrs. E. Leslie Eames, corner of Tenth and Brand Boulevard, Thursday afternoon, April 1. The subject of the afternoon's discussion will be "First Aids to the Housekeeper."

Among the many visitors who attended the all day meeting of N. P. Banks Post and Corps were Mrs. Ella C. Carlin, Mrs. Lydia C. Starmount, and Mrs. Keziah Baker of Long Beach, Mrs. M. L. Ebersole, Mrs. Laura Cressey and Comrade L. C. Cressey of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Clara Iman of Long Beach past president of N. P. Banks, W. R. C., was among the many visitors who spent yesterday at the all day meeting of the post and corps. Mrs. Iman left this morning for Burbank where she will visit several days as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Pratt.

The fourth Friday of each month the G. A. R. hall on Glendale avenue is the mecca for all the members and their friends, of N. P. Banks, W. R. C., and G. A. R. Yesterday was no exception to the usual custom, for many of the old grizzled war veterans were in attendance. The morning was devoted to the meeting of the post and the ladies preparing the dinner which was served at 12:30.

An interesting program was rendered, Mrs. Laura Cressey of Los Angeles gave two readings. Comrade Fitzgerald and Captain A. L. Ross each gave interesting talks. The program closed by all singing "America." The business session of the corps followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Andresson of Elgin, Illinois, who are the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Hobbs, and who have returned from a delightful visit in San Diego, were the guests of friends in Pasadena yesterday.

NORTH GLENDALE.

MEN WHO DO THINGS

HIGH SCHOOL PARENT-TEACHERS PRESENT DR. SCHERER IN TRAVEL LECTURE.

A very interesting evening was enjoyed by a good sized audience at the high school auditorium on Thursday under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers association of the high school.

Mrs. John Orth rendered a very delightful solo and responded to an encore. Then in a few well chosen words the president of the association, Rev. E. H. Willisford, introduced Dr. J. A. B. Scherer, president of Throop College of Technology of Pasadena, who gave his illustrated lecture on "Around the World With Men Who Do Things."

The views of many interesting places, including methods of travel in Japan, China, India and England were shown. Also a number of slides, showing the construction of the Panama canal. The lecturer had visited all of these places and told many interesting things about the same.

Dr. Scherer showed very clearly that the people who are needed and valued most are those who can do things. Statistics were given which showed that out of 100 notables that seventy-one were college trained, and nineteen had high school training, and only two -tenths of one per cent. were self made.

The speaker facetiously remarked that that was probably the reason why the self made man talked so much about himself, because there was so little of him.

The lecture closed with a number of views of Throop and its students and graduates. The audience gained a very intelligent idea of the splendid and efficient work that this institution is doing.

Dr. Scherer is a delightful gentleman to meet and an intertaining and instructive lecturer. It is to be hoped that the people of Glendale may have the privilege of hearing him again.

Following the lecture refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed, many of those present availing themselves of the opportunity of meeting Dr. Scherer.

MONTANA VISITORS.

M. O. Triol and son Clifton, who have been visiting the former's cousin, Lee D. Triol of 212 Verdugo Road, will leave Sunday for their home in Anaconda, Montana. While here they have taken trips to Catalina and Mt. Lowe, and last week Lee D. Triol, wife and daughter took their guests to San Diego where they enjoyed the exposition and sightseeing trips in and around the latter city. The visitors are very enthusiastic over their first visit to Southern California, and have only words of praise for beautiful Glendale.

ROBINETTE CLUB.

The Robinette club were entertained by Mrs. Harry Gibbs and Mrs. L. G. Sherman at the latter's beautiful bungalow home on West First street, yesterday.

The few outside guests present were entertained by hearing the club sing several charming selections.

From several hints dropped, the guests received the impression of a number of unique and delightful surprises that the club is planning for their coming concert.

MRS. USILTON HOSTESS.

Mrs. J. W. Usilton of 1120 West Seventh street gave a very pretty pink and yellow luncheon to a few friends today. Marshall Neil and Seabright roses made the rooms fragrantly beautiful and added to the enjoyment of all. Luncheon was served at 1, covers being laid for Mrs. A. V. Bloor, Mrs. Joseph Kirkby, Mrs. Clem Moore, Mrs. Frederick Baker, Mrs. Philip Englehorn, Mrs. W. C. McLernon of Los Angeles and the hostess. A very pleasant afternoon was spent by the ladies in needlework and chat.

IS EXPECTED HOME.

Congressman Charles H. Randall is expected home from the east about April 1. Since the adjournment of congress, Mr. Randall has been busy making speeches and visiting friends and relatives, on the way home. At present he is visiting his mother and sister in Lincoln, Nebraska.

Congressman Randall has been getting a number of invitations to address various organizations in this section as soon as he can arrange to do so after he reaches here. It is quite evident that Mr. Randall will be quite busy during the summer meeting the people, for it is his purpose to become closely acquainted with his constituentcy and to know the needs of each community.

COMING FAST!

Elections make little difference in the forward march of things, says William Allen White in the California Outlook. The country is supposed to have gone hopelessly reactionary last November, yet a casual perusal of the newspapers from all over the country indicates that progressive measures are going through legislatures in the various states with remarkable regularity. The reaction didn't seem to react much.

The crazy fads and frills that were denounced in the conservative press last year—because they were in the Progressive platform—are plowing their way through the legislatures without let or hindrance. Parties, candidates, movements come and go and rise and fall; elections which seem to hold much in their outcome, pass and repass; but the spirit of the heart of man which slowly is working its way to a cleaner, fairer basis of living, that spirit never is checked or thwarted.—Hollywood Citizen.

THE FUNNY PRINTER.

Let us all try to console ourselves when our clients tear their hair over typographical error, that to err is human—especially err typographically.

Some of the finest jokes extant come through the fact that the printer's fingers slip. Here are some which, like others, are funny a long, long time afterward—never at the time.

A Chicago paper in reporting a political meeting, said that the vast audience rents the air with their shouts.

Another Chicago paper reported that the propellor Alaska was leaving port with a cargo of forty thousand bushels of cats.

A Buffalo paper in describing the scene when Roosevelt took the oath of office as president, said it was a spectacle never to be forgotten when Roosevelt before the chief justice of the supreme court and a few witnesses took his simple bath.—Associated Advertising.

BEDBUGS SCARCE IN CALIFORNIA.

Here's another one to tell the "folks from back home" when they arrive. And its veracity is vouched for by the university entomologists:

Of the seven bedbugs known in America, only one is found in California. Moreover, the state is remarkably free even from that. Investigation has shown that California is dreadfully impoverished in this regard, and that even the most enthusiastic "knocker" will have a long, lonesome hunt before he can produce one of the "critters."

Incidentally, one of the university professors has found out that cyanide gas is fatal to bedbugs. If the folks from the east want to know how to free their state from bedbugs tell them to fumigate it with cyanide. Of course, they will have to leave the country while the fumigation goes on

HASN'T SUCCEEDED YET.

Around the corner came a motor cyclist, head down, everything whizzing.

He hit the street car amidships and crumpled up like a pine shaving, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. They lifted him to his feet and the conductor dusted him off.

He looked around in a dazed fashion. Then he saw the car.

"I haven't been able to do it yet," he muttered.

"Do what?"

"Knock a street car off the track."

Then he staggered away dragging the wreck after him.

PAINTING AND MUSIC.

Whereas, while polish, refinement, culture, and breeding, are in no way arguments for artistic result, it is also no reproach to the most finished scholar or greatest gentleman in the land that he be absolutely without eye for painting or ear for music — that in his heart he prefer the popular print to the scratch of Rembrant's needle, or the songs of the hall to Beethoven's "C minor Symphony."—James M'Neill Whistler.

The commission on industrial relations will try to find out how sleeping car porters get so much money. Those who travel Pullmans have suspicions as to whence comes the porter's income.

Jane Addams says the militarists owe the world an apology, but she fails to suggest a plan by which to collect the debt.

SUPERIOR TACTICS.

"What did you learn at the school?" the boss asked the fair young applicant for the stenographer's job.

"I learned," she replied, "that spelling is essential to a stenographer."

The boss chuckled.

"Good. Now let me hear you spell 'essential.'"

The fair girl hesitated for the fraction of a second.

"There are three ways," she replied. "Which do you prefer?"

And she got the job.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Teach the boy to be gentlemanly. Let him be ever so bright mentally and ever so keen of wit, but if he lack courteousness and gentlemanliness he lacks something vital to the making of a good impression and getting on well in life.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Paine of 118 Orange street, Glendale, were in attendance at the San Diego exposition, Thursday and Friday, making the trip going and returning in their touring car.

FORGOT THEY WERE HUNGRY.

General Joffre once told a good-humored story of a party of four British tourists who entered a Paris restaurant one evening and announced that they wanted dinner.

"And we don't want any of your frogs, or snails, or horses," said one of them to the waiter, severely. "We'll start with soup—some sort of plain soup."

"Certainly, sir," replied the waiter, and the next minute the four Britons heard him shout down the speaking tube in the gitchen: "Cat soup!"

Without a word the tourists seized their hats and bolted. It was not until later that they discovered that in French "four soups"—quartres soupes—is pronounced almost exactly like "cat soup."—Kansas City Star.

CONSTRUCTIVE
--AND-- # DESTRUCTIVE

¶ There are two classes of people living in this world---the Constructive and the Destructive. It is the desire of the first mentioned class to build up, and it is the purpose of the second mentioned class to pull down that which already has been built up.

¶ Glendale welcomes the Constructive class to become residents of this beautiful city.

MARSHALL TO VISIT SAN DIEGO.

SAN DIEGO, March 25.—A salute of seventeen guns fired from Fort Rosecrans and by the warships in San Diego harbor will welcome Vice President Marshall to the Panama-California exposition March 30. Marshall is at the head of a distinguished party of Washington officials. He is coming here as the representative of President Wilson who announced his inability to leave Washington at this time on account of the foreign situation.

In Marshall's party will be Secretary Lane, of the Department of the Interior, Assistant Secretary Roosevelt of the Navy Department, Senator Phelan, A. C. Miller of the Federal Reserve board and others. Mrs. Marshall and the wives of the other visitors will be in the party.

Vice President Marshall's visit to the exposition will be made the occasion for several large military spectacles and reviews. His party will be met at the station by a squadron of the First Cavalry and escorted to the exposition. A battalion of the United States Marine Corps will act as his escort through the grounds. It is probable that the three companies of Coast Artillery from Fort Rosecrans will furnish a second escort and that during the stay of the party there will be the largest military review ever held in San Diego, exclusive of the time when the fleet arrived here after coming around the Horn.

It will be Vice President Marshall's first visit to San Diego. Secretary Lane and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt were here during the building of the exposition at which time both promised they would come back to see the completed project.

VACANT LOT A DETRIMENT.

Some time ago the city council of Chicago adopted an ordinance making it unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to erect a billboard or signboard in any block on any public street in which one-half of the buildings on both sides of the street are used exclusively for residence purposes, without first having obtained consent of a majority of the frontage on both sides of the street in the block in which such billboard or signboard is to be erected. Since there is common opposition among the owners of residence property to the erection of advertising signs in the vicinity of dwellings, it was believed by the promoters of this ordinance that its adoption and enforcement would go far toward the suppression of a persistent and pernicious urban nuisance.

The interests concerned in billboards and signboards realized the seriousness of this move against their industry and they were not slow in bringing the matter into court. After a hearing that extended over considerable time, during which many able legal arguments were made, on both sides, a judge of the Superior court of Cook county, in which Chicago is situated, ruled the ordinance to be an invasion of private rights in that it would operate to prevent the owners of vacant lots from making legitimate use of their property, says the Christian Science Monitor. The Supreme court of Illinois, however, has taken an opposite view of the matter.

That tribunal holds that, in respect to occupations or structures, the location of which is subject to regulation under the police power of the municipality, a requirement of frontage consent of property owners, within reasonable limits, is a proper mode of exercising the power of regulation vested in the municipality. Nothing unreasonable is seen in an ordinance intended to protect the majority of the frontage of a block against a small minority frontage that for purely selfish reasons would impair the value of all surrounding property.

The vacant lot in the block otherwise occupied with residents in itself is a detriment; when it becomes the site of a flaring advertising stand it is double detriment. Some day undoubtedly the vacant lot owner will be compelled to improve or to sell his property. Until that time comes, we think, it is good sense as well as good law that he shall not be permitted to injure the property of those around him by leasing his lot to a billboard or signboard company for a rental sufficient to cover his taxes, or for other consideration.

RODIN'S GIFT TO ENGLAND.

In the Burlington mazagine an article on Rodin's gift to the British nation of a collection of his works is acclaimed from an angle of appreciation. The writer decides that although Rodin's fame was made in France it was established in England and that in reality Rodin is a British institution. There is something to be said in more senses than one for the contention. Superficially there is less sharpness of contrast between the best British sculpture and that of Rodin than exists between his work and all other French sculpture of technical excellence. His blurred contours are seen to better effect in the environment of London than in the vivacious light of the Luxemburg. But of course the main point is that the generous old sculptor achieved a maximum of tact in making himself the symbol of the new mutual understanding between the two great nations.

Some folks are so exclusive about their acquaintances that they never get fully acquainted with themselves.
